

LOVE

Leasowes School Values

love
/lʌv/
noun

A great interest and pleasure in something.

We all love the world that we live in and therefore should do all that we can to protect it. Here are some top tips of what we can all do.

1. Recycle everything that you can. This will mean that the Earth's resources will be used again for something else.
2. Try not to use 'single use plastics'. This will cut down on waste.
3. Rather than travelling in a car, walk or cycle wherever possible.
4. Be a great environmental role model. Pass on your knowledge and practice to others.

The Bigger Picture

From a very early age, David Attenborough took a keen interest in all living things. After serving in the Navy, he went to work for the BBC and in 1965 made his first television programme, all about elephants in Tanzania. Since then, Attenborough has researched, produced and starred in programmes, teaching us about all living things, from trees to big cats to blue whales. These documentaries are now world famous, and for this David Attenborough was knighted in 1985.

The love for all things living that Attenborough has nurtured, however, has also caused him concern. His work has made him realise that humans are causing a great amount of damage to Planet Earth. Much of David Attenborough's work is now based around what we can all do to protect the world that we all know and love.

At Leasowes, we show Love by:

- Always striving to be a good friend
- Building positive and healthy relationships
- Sharing in each other's love of learning
- Nurturing our own and each other's curiosity
- Showing a love for our environment

'I have decided to stick with love. Hate is too great a burden to bear'

Martin Luther King

Did you know?

There are 41,415 species in the world that are endangered.

16, 306 of these are in danger of becoming extinct. This figure has grown by 188 in the space of just one year. This includes tigers, dolphins, rhinos, gorillas, snow leopards and sea turtles.

Love

Showing love is all about being there and being a friend to others. What could you do in and around school to achieve this?
