Snapshots of this Week's Learning and Activities

This week we have been reading the story 'Elmer'. Elmer is a patchwork Elephant who sometimes wishes he could be 'elephant colour' to blend in with the other elephants. He soon learns that being different is what makes him special. We have had discussions with the children about why we should celebrate our differences and be our true selves. The children have been participating in different 'Elmer' themed activities such as colour sorting, creating their own patchwork elephant and exploring what animals we would find in the jungle.

Other Information

All library books need to be collected in by the 5th of December, please ensure you have returned your child's current book by this date. The children will bring their next book home in the new year.

Dates for your diary
